

Checking Accounts
25

Checking Accounts
50

Checking Accounts
100

Checking Accounts
200

When you write a check, you must include all of the following information EXCEPT:

- a. The date
- b. The amount of the check, in words
- c. Your credit card number

If you do this when you write a check, make a deposit, or make a withdrawal, you'll always know how much money you have in your account:

- a. Write it down on a piece of paper
- b. Update the balance in your check register
- c. Check your account total on an ATM machine

Which of the following appears on the account statement you receive periodically?

- a. The amount you currently have in your account
- b. Your account balance at the time the statement was printed
- c. A list of all your purchases

When tracking your debit card use, you should:

- a. Look through the receipts in your wallet or purse
- b. Review the notes you took while shopping
- c. Scan your periodic bank statement